ATTACK ON LIQUOR LAW

Beer Importers Sue Treasurer in the U. S. Court.

ACT OF 1886 IS UNCONSTITUTIONAL

Alleged by Macfarlane & Co., and Others to Violate Interstate Commerce Law.

The Interstate Commerce Law is to be given its first application in Honolulu, through a suit filed yesterday in the United States District Court, for the purpose of nullifying the liquor license act of 1888. The title of the petition filed yesterday is Macfarlane & Co., H. Macfarlane & Co., W. C. Peacock & Co., Ed. Hoffschlaeger & Co., St. C. Sayers and Lawrence H. Doe vs. Wm. H. Wright as treasurer of the Territory of Hawaii.

The attorneys representing plaintiffs are J. C. Baird, J. J. Dunne and Robertson & Wilder. The petition consists of a dozen closely written typewritten pages, each plaintiff setting out practically the same grounds as cause for action.

Briefly stated, cutting out the mass of legal verbiage, the complainants in the case seek to prevent the treasurer from issuing liquor licenses under the law of 1888, which, it is alleged in the petition, is unconstitutional, null and void. Though it is not stated in the petition, the ground upon which the case is to be fought is that the law in question is in direct conflict with the Interstate Commerce Law, in restricting free commercial intercourse between States and Territories.

In 1882 the first liquor law was framed in Hawaii. This was very general in its nature, and made no restriction upon the liquor trade, except a license of $1000 and an observance of a few rules governing the traffic. This is the law under which the majority of saloonmen are operating in the Territory today.

In 1886 a special liquor law was put on the statute books which authorized the issuance of a single license, for the manufacture of malt and spirituous liquors in Honolulu for the term of fifteen years. A practical monopoly was given to the brewery at that time established, by a clause in the law, which authorized the issuance of retail licenses only to vendors of home-brewed beer. In spite of the protection given the industry, it did not flourish, and within a few years the brewery was closed. Later in 1888 the law was reenacted making it possible to sell only home brewed beer in Honolulu.

The license fee under this new law was fixed at $250 while under the law of 1882 it was one thousand dollars, but upon the closing of the brewery, these second licenses were of no avail, as the saloonmen could get no beer manufactured in Honolulu, and were compelled to sell the imported product and pay the old license of $1,000.

With the opening of the new brewery here, the old trouble has commenced again. The fight is not directed against the home concern by the complainants in this case, filed yesterday, so much as upon the law which it is alleged discriminates against outside manufacturers. Under the liquor license law of 1888, vendors who sell beer brewed in Honolulu pay a license of but $250 per year, while the dealers handling the foreign product are mulcted four times that sum annually, or $1,000 per year.

It is on this proposition that the fight in the Federal court is to be made by the importers, who at a recent meeting decided upon the suit.

They claim that the discrimination made between home products and that manufactured in other states is in direct violation of the Interstate Commerce Law, and is also contrary to the Constitution. They want to have the law, which makes this discrimination either taken from the statute books, or so amended as to place all liquor dealers, whether handling home-brewed beer or that made in other States on the same basis. It is alleged in the petition that all the complainants in the above cause are corporations doing business in Honolulu, and acting as agents for various breweries in the States, principally at Milwaukee, St. Louis, San Francisco and Seattle. They ask that Treasurer Wright be served with notice to appear, and show why they should not be given equitable rights, asked in the petition and that he be estopped from further issuing licenses under the act of 1888.

THE PEARL HARBOR SUITS.
An amended answer was filed yesterday by Bishop & Co., in the naval condemnation suits. There is very little change from the original answer, the claimants setting up $200,000 as the amount of damages which will result. Exceptions to the ruling of Judge Estee upon the jury question are also filed.

An affidavit is also filed by H. D. Sullivan, attorney for several defendants, in which he alleges "That answers in actions under the Hawaiian practice are not verified and are signed only by the attorneys in behalf of their clients. That a defendant may or may not set forth in his answer or at the foot thereof, notice of special defenses or special matters to be relied upon in his defense. That to the best of affiant's knowledge and belief, no answer containing a general denial with notice of special defenses was ever stricken from the records by the presiding judge in a court of record in the Territory of Hawaii or in the Republic of Hawaii, or in the Kingdom of Hawaii, and no motion to strike from an answer notice of any special defenses or special matter intended to be relied upon by the defendant in making his defense has ever been granted by a Court in these Islands."

NEW SUITS IN CIRCUIT COURT

Little and Gear Adjourn Until Monday Because of McKinley's Death.

Two new suits were filed in Circuit Court yesterday, both on account, and neither of much importance. One was entitled Lewis & Co., Ltd., vs. Ben Guerrero, defendant, and William Aylett, W. H. Wright, B. H. Wright, W. Norton, W. Wagner, Gaudin, A. Baker, Hiu, C. J. Holt, J. Atcherly, St. Louis College, Captain Holi and the Catholic Mission as garnishees. Complainant claims of Guerrero the sum of $74.24 for goods sold and delivered.

The second suit is entitled the Harrison Mill Company vs. the Waiwala Hotel Co., Ltd., and is also on account for $683.81. Complainant alleges that this amount is due for goods sold and delivered, and attaches an itemized statement. Though frequent demands for payment have been made, defendant has refused and still refuses to pay the same, according to the petition on file.

COURT ADJOURNS UNTIL MONDAY.

Judges Gear and Little adjourned court immediately upon opening yesterday morning, until Monday at 9:30 o'clock, out of respect to President McKinley. Both grand and petit juries were also excused until that time.

COURT NOTES.

A discontinuance has been filed in the case of Hollister Drug Company vs. John F. Colburn.

M. J. Borba was appointed administrator in the matter of the estate of Manoa J. Borba, with bond of $300.

The annual report of J. O. Carter, guardian of the Hardee minors, shows a balance on hand of $213.75. The income for the year was $451.52.

A special meeting of the Hawaiian Bar Association will be held in the Waikiki courtroom, Judiciary building, this afternoon at 3 o'clock for the purpose of taking appropriate action upon the death of President McKinley.
